Scope of the consultation exercise

From 1 October 2021, trustees of certain schemes¹ face new requirements intended to improve the quality of governance and reporting as they address climate-related risks and opportunities. This consultation covers two documents that will help those interested in understanding our approach to meet the proposed requirements:

- Guidance on governance and reporting of climate-related risks and opportunities

This guidance describes what you need to do and report on in your annual climate change report (also known as a 'TCFD report') to comply with the new legislation.

- New appendix ('Breaches of the climate change governance and reporting regulations') to TPR's monetary penalties policy

The appendix outlines our approach to imposing penalties for breaches of the proposed Occupational Pension Schemes (Climate Change Governance and Reporting) Regulations 2021.

We welcome views on these two documents. In addition to seeking general views, we have provided questions on areas where we are particularly interested in feedback. We will consider all comments before publishing the final guidance and appendix later in the year.

Who this consultation is for

This consultation is for anyone seeking to understand our approach to regulating compliance with the proposed new requirements on governance and reporting of climate-related risks and opportunities.

Responding to the consultation

We have provided forms for responses to questions which you can complete electronically and submit to us.

Please note: We have asked questions about specific sections of the guidance. We are not expecting you to answer every question in order to submit a response.

It is our strong preference that respondents use the forms which can be found at: www.tpr.gov.uk/en/document-library/consultations/climate-change-guidance. We can accept responses in other formats, but you should retain the same structure as the forms.

You can send your response:

- by email to: climatechangeconsultation@tpr.gov.uk
- by post to: Mel Jarman, Regulatory Policy, The Pensions Regulator, Napier House, Trafalgar Place, Brighton, BN1 4DW

We may need to share any comments you send us within our own organisation or with other government bodies, including the Department for Work and Pensions (DWP). We may publish comments as part of our response to the consultation.

If you want your comments to remain anonymous, please state this explicitly in your response. If you want your response to be confidential, please let us know and we will take the necessary steps to meet your request.

However, please be aware that, if we receive a formal request under the Freedom of Information Act, we may have to make your response available. When responding, please advise whether you are responding as an individual or on behalf of an organisation (and, if the latter, which organisation).

Closing date

This consultation document was published on 5 July 2021. The closing date for responses is 31 August 2021.

Government consultation principles

This consultation paper follows the government's consultation principles at: <https://www.gov.uk/government/publications/consultation-principles-guidance>.

The key principles state that consultations should:

- be clear and concise
- have a purpose
- be informative
- be only part of a process of engagement
- last for a proportionate amount of time
- be targeted
- take account of the groups being consulted
- be agreed before publication
- facilitate scrutiny
- be responded to in a timely fashion, and
- not be launched during local or national election periods

Equalities

As part of our regulatory work and business functions, The Pensions Regulator (TPR) is subject to the Public Sector Equality Duty (PSED). The PSED ensures that public bodies have due regard to the needs of all individuals in their day-to-day work – in shaping policy, in delivering services, and in relation to their own employees.

The legislation relates to specific 'protected characteristics' set out in the Equality Act 2010: disability, gender reassignment, pregnancy and maternity, age, race, religion or belief, sex, and sexual orientation matters.

Question about equalities

We would be interested to understand if there are any aspects of our approach that users think would discriminate against, disadvantage or present an additional or exceptional challenge to anyone with a protected characteristic.

Consultation context

The government has proposed new requirements aimed at improving both the quality of governance and the level of action by trustees in identifying, assessing and managing climate-related risks and opportunities.

Trustees subject to these requirements must report on their activity in an annual climate change report. The reporting requirements are based on the recommendations of the Taskforce on Climate-related Financial Disclosures (TCFD).²

The TCFD recommendations allow for consistent climate-related financial disclosures that are useful for understanding the risks and opportunities from climate change. TCFD-aligned disclosures are due to be mandatory across the UK economy by 2025, and the Treasury has published an interim report and roadmap³ towards this ambition. This includes plans for asset managers, which will be helpful for trustees' work on disclosures.

In drafting the new requirements, the Department for Work and Pensions (DWP) has adapted the TCFD recommendations to make them relevant to trustee decision-making structures. For example, a TCFD recommendation under the heading of 'governance' translates into a requirement for trustees to have oversight of climate-related risks and opportunities.

The DWP has published guidance on the new requirements, which is statutory unless otherwise stated. Trustees must have regard to that guidance in complying with most of the new requirements.

However, a number of our stakeholders and respondents to the DWP's consultation on the policy behind the new requirements have expressed interest in hearing directly from us on our regulatory approach to the new duties. The draft guidance in this consultation aims to meet that need.

Regulations proposed by the DWP also give us new powers where there are failures to comply with the new requirements, including the power to impose penalties. The draft appendix in this consultation sets out our proposed approach to issuing penalties for breaches of these requirements.

Please note that both consultation documents cover our approach to the new requirements. Any questions or concerns on the underlying policy and regulations should be directed to the DWP.
